2 Topography and Indications of Auricular Acupuncture Points According to Regions (Page 37)

Points on the Antitragus (Points 25–36)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 50

Points on the Antitragus According to Nogier ............................ 52

Projection Zones of the Cranial Bones and Sinuses
According to Nogier ..................................................................... 56

Points of the Anthelix (Points 37–45)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 58

Projection Zones of the Spinal Column
According to Nogier and Bahr ...................................................... 60

Points on the Superior and Inferior Anthelical Crura
(Points 46–54) According to Chinese Nomenclature ......................... 62

Points in the Triangular Fossa (Points 55–61)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 64

Projection Zones of the Lower Extremity
According to Nogier ..................................................................... 66

Points in the Region of the Superior and Inferior Anthelical Crura and in the Triangular Fossa According to Nogier ......................... 67

Points on the Scapha (Points 62–71)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 70

Points on the Scapha According to Nogier,
Projection of the Upper Extremities .............................................. 72

Points on the Scapha According to Nogier .................................... 74

Points on the Helical Rim (Points 72–78)
According to Chinese Nomenclature and Nogier ......................... 76

Points on the Ascending Helix Branch (Points 79–83)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 78

Points in the Region of the Ascending Helix Branch
(Crus of Helix) According to Nogier, External .............................. 80

Covered Points in the Region of the Ascending Helix Branch
(Crus of Helix) According to Nogier ............................................. 82

Projection Zones of Internal Organs
According to R.A. Durinjan ......................................................... 84

Projection Zones of Internal Organs
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 85

Points around the Helix Root (Points 84–91)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 86
Points in the Superior Concha (Points 92–99)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 88

Points in the Inferior Concha (Points 100–104)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 90

Projection Zones in the Concha (Internal Organs)
According to Nogier ........................................................................... 92

Plexus Points and Important Points in the Concha
According to Nogier ........................................................................... 96

Points on the Reverse Side of the Auricula (Points 105–108)
According to Chinese Nomenclature ............................................. 98

Retropoints and Projection of the Spinal Column
According to Nogier ........................................................................... 99

Motor Points for Musculature and Joints on the Reverse
Side of the Auricula According to Nogier ........................................... 100

Motor Points for Thorax and Abdomen on the Left and Right Ear on the Reverse Side of the Auricula
According to Nogier ........................................................................... 101

Superordinate Points According to Chinese Nomenclature .... 102

Energy and Treatment Lines on the Auricula
According to Nogier ........................................................................... 104

Auxiliary Lines in Auricular Acupuncture (B. Strittmatter) ..... 108

Tutorial: Comparison of the Most Important Auricular
